The 'BANGOR' MISSAL.

This missal, which has more than liturgical importance, dates from the late fourteenth or early fifteenth century. It is a magnificent volume, written on vellum, with many decorated pages by an English hand, recalling on a more modest scale the illumination of the Bedford Horae lately acquired by the British Museum. It is written in Latin, with part of the marriage service in English. In the Calendar are certain significant erasures, e.g. the word 'papa' (pope) in every instance, and all references to St Thomas of Canterbury. These erasures may have been made during the reign of Elizabeth or earlier (NLW MS 492E).

famous work appears to have been written c. 1400. It shows a slight abridgement of the text, and is remarkable for some unusual readings. In addition to the Vocabulum Bibliae, the volume contains a short treatise on prosody and a fragment of an abridgement of Alexander Neckam's Repertorium Bibliae, a similar work to that of Briton. This latter section is in a later hand, and was probably written c. 1450.

Disgrifiad / Description

THE OTTLEY PAPERS, consisting of nearly 1,500 documents belonging to two members of the Ottley family- a bishop and a registrar of the diocese of St Davids. Adam Ottley was Bishop of St. Davids from 1712 until his death in 1723, and his nephew, also Adam Ottley, was the principal registrar of the diocese from 1713 to 1752.

Bishop Ottley's papers begin before his appointment to the see of St David and include documents which illustrate his activities as a student, as Canon Residentiary and Archdeacon of Salop in the Cathedral Church of Hereford, as a member of the Lower House of Convocation, as an arbitrator in disputes between neighbours, and as the executor of the wills of members of his family. The papers which relate to the proceedings in Convocation include a number of letters from Francis Atterbury, who became Bishop of Rochester in 1713 and in 1721 indulged in a Jacobite plot known as "Atterbury's Plot".

They also include letters addressed to Ottley by William Wake, both as Bishop of Lincoln and as Archbishop of Canterbury, Bishop Thomas Watson, who was deprived of the see of St Davids in 1699, Griffith Jones of Llanddowror, Moses Williams the antiquary, and William Jones, Principal of Jesus College, Oxford, who writes in connection with an effort to secure the prebend of Clyro for Daniel Durel as an inducement to him to remain as schoolmaster at Cowbridge; papers relating to a dispute between Ottley and the Fellows of St John's College, Cambridge, touching the right of patronage of the churches of Llanarth and Llanina; testimonials to curates and schoolmasters; petitions, including one from the tenants of the lordships of Llandilo villa et patria for a restitution of the copyhold court; papers relating to a dispute between Ottley and his predecessor, Bishop Bisse, concerning dilapidations in the diocese; papers relating to repairs at the Palace at Abergwili, etc.

Adam Ottley the registrar's papers are more numerous and consist mainly of business letters from his deputies for the several archdeaconries of Brecknock, Carmarthen, St Davids, and Cardigan; letters from his fellow officials, Edward Jones, father and son, who held the chancellorship from 1713 to 1753, and Charles Brereton who acted for them; letters from the Bishops of St Davids-Ottley, Smalbroke and Claggett; letters from candidates for the office of principal registrar, and from applicants for vacancies in the deputy registries especially in times of illness, or misfortunes, of the deputies; and returns of accounts of fees received at the registries. A number of returns of fees for the archdeaconry of Brecknock date from the time of Ottley's predecessor, Robert Lucy.

There are also some documents which throw light on the activities of the ecclesiastical courts - the letters from Chancellor Edward Jones show how jealous he was of their power, and his fear lest the people should hold them in contempt. There are some references to the proceedings against Griffith Jones, Llanddowror, and copies of articles exhibited against Owen Evans, rector of Llangoedmor, Peregrine Stoakes, vicar of Llanvihangel y Croythin, and Samuel Williams, vicar of Llandefriog and rector of Llangynllo, father of Moses Williams.

Disgrifiad / Description

THE SWEENEY HALL MANUSCRIPTS AND DOCUMENTS, including a volume of important papers relating to Major-General Thomas Mytton, who served the Parliamentary cause in North Wales during the Civil War. These papers have been published by the late Stanley Leighton in Volumes VII and VIII of the Collections . . . relating to Montgomeryshire. There are also five volumes of the letters and memoranda of Edward Lloyd of Llanvorda (the father of Edward Lhuyd the antiquary), which include several of his letter-books between 1674 and 1680. Many of the letters refer to his interests in the herring trade, and in one of them he gives an account of the treatment which he received at the hands of the inhabitants around the banks of the Dovey. He also gives a narrative of his designs in the fishing trade on the Welsh coast. Among the original letters addressed to him are several from John Gadbury, the astrologer.

These volumes, together with another which contains papers relating to the Charlton, Browne of Sweeney, and Parker of Whitehouse families, were handsomely bound for the late Stanley Leighton.

There are also account books of the estates of the Charltons of Park, Shropshire, in the eighteenth century; a bundle of papers and notebooks relating to the estate of Miss Fanny Williams-Wynn, deceased, in 1857; a copy of a survey of the manor of Knockin, 1677; and upwards of 250 deeds and documents relating to properties in the townships and parishes of Sweeney, Llyncklis, Porkington, Oswestry, Kinerley, Ifton, Bishop's Castle, and elsewhere in Shropshire, between 1563 and 1854.

Disgrifiad / Description

THE BRONWYDD MANUSCRIPTS, consisting of about one-third of the documents preserved in the muniment room at Bronwydd. These have been completely catalogued by Professor E. A. Lewis and arranged in six groups as under:-

1. Various Literary, Genealogical and Historical Manuscript Volumes and Tracts.

(a) Five manuscripts, including the well-known Vairdre Book and The Register Book of the Barony of Kemes.

(b) Ten volumes of historical and antiquarian notes by George Owen of Henllys and others.

2. Manorial Records of the Barony of Kemes and its Members.

224 court rolls, three court books and fifty-six bundles of presentments, recording the proceedings of the courts leet and courts baron of the various manors from the end of the fourteenth century to 1885. The manors include:- The Barony of Kemes, Eglwysrwrw, Bayvill and Crigie, Moylgrove, Newcastle, Redwalles and Kevenllymwydd, Clawddcerrig, Llanfyrnach, Llandilo Abercowyn and the town or borough of Newport.

The extant court rolls up to the middle of the sixteenth century are few, but the series for several of the manors during the reigns of Elizabeth and James I (especially during the lifetime of George Owen) is fairly complete and is in excellent condition. The court baron seems to have lost its importance as a court of justice from about the middle of the seventeenth century, and ceased to be held in the majority of the manors. At the same time, too, the main business of the court leet, apart from its normal work of 'presenting' defaulting homagers and the appointment of local officials, was concerned more and more with the problem of stray sheep and encroachments of the commons. (From 1745 to 1885 the presentments at the Easter and Michaelmas leets each year in several of the manors are remarkably complete and reveal comparatively few gaps). In addition to the court rolls, proper there are occasional rolls and files of subsidiary documents of considerable interest and importance, such as suit or homagers' rolls, charges to the grand jury from time to time, declarations in causes (some in the autograph of George Owen), copies of pleadings, particulars of debts and legal costs, warrants and precepts to local officials, which admirably illustrate the technique of legal procedure, etc., in local manorial courts during the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries.

Other manorial records include about sixty rentals and surveys of certain manors from 1434 to 1764; six ministers' accounts (Richard II to Henry VIII); and four exceptionally valuable toll books of local fairs - three of the fair of St Meygan held at Eglwysrwrw (1599-1632), and one of 'Ffair Gurig' at Newport, Pem., in 1603.

3. Documents relating to Local Government affairs in the Hundred of Kemes, &c., 1587-1837.

Of the hundred odd documents brought together in this group, some fifty relate to the activities and anxieties of the Deputy-Lieutenants of Pembrokeshire during the first half of the seventeenth century;

they include general muster books and divers inventories and notes of armour, etc. The remainder, with one important exception - a court roll of the Queen's Hundred Court of the Hundred of Kemes (held by George Owen, as sheriff of Pembrokeshire, 29-30 Eliz., and a few coroner's warrants of the eighteenth century - illustrate the administrative and judicial functions of the justices of the peace in North Pembrokeshire between 1624 and 1837. Among these there is an important file of documents of the year 1631 throwing interesting light on the operation of the Elizabethan Poor Law and the Statute of Artificers in the Hundred of Kemes.

4. Ancient Deeds, Feet of Fines, Bonds, &c., relating to the transfer of lands and the mortgage of properties in the Barony of Kemes and elsewhere between 1546 and 1759 (forty-one documents).

5. Sundry Papers and Documents relating to Legal Actions touching persons and affairs within the Barony of Kemes from 1546 to 1770, - seventy-seven documents, as follows:-

(a) Council of the Marches in Wales (1546-1682) - twelve documents, including bills of complaint by William Owen, George Owen and Alban Owen respectively against the burgesses of the town of Newport, and one interesting petition relating to a dispute as to a right of way between Bronwydd and the market town of Lampeter.

(b) The Great Sessions and other Courts (Henry VIII to 1770) - fifty-seven documents, including several cases in the Chancery Court of the Great Sessions of Pembroke, Cardigan and Carmarthen; enclosure of commons, 1614; alleged strike against the payment of tithes in the parish of Nevern (1650-4).

(c) Miscellaneous Cases for Opinion and Particulars of Legal Costs (1670-1770), - eight documents.

5. Miscellaneous Estate Papers, Accounts and Correspondence relating to the Barony of Kemes and the Town of Newport (1653-1847), - eighty-five documents, including some wills and inventories of goods; the tithes of Nevern; perambulation of the boundaries of Kemes; turf-cutting disputes in the parish of Nevern; various enclosure disputes- 'tai unos', cottages, gardens, etc., on Newport and Kemes Commons; a copy of resolutions passed at Mountain Hall, Brynberian, November 20 1812; wreck of sea at Dinas and elsewhere; protest of the men of Little Newcastle upon the abandonment of their court leet; the account of the pound keeper at Spite; the ancient custom of ale prize in the borough of Newport; distribution of corn at Newport during the 'Hungry Forties'; fair and pitching rights at Newport; 'wirepulling' for the mayorship of Newport (1831-45) including the contest between the 'Orange' and the 'Blue' factions in 1831; and lists of the aldermen and burgesses of Newport in 1836 and 1847.

Blwyddyn / Year

Adroddiad Blynyddol / Annual Report 1932-33

Disgrifiad / Description

An extensive group of documents and papers, particularly rich in manorial records from the sixteenth century to the nineteenth, which has not yet been fully examined. It is only possible at present to draw attention to one or two classes of documents which are now being sorted.

Among the manorial records are two volumes of copies of rentals and surveys of the lordship of Oswestry from 1577 to 1652, including a survey made in the latter year by virtue of a Commission under an Act of Parliament for the sale of lands and estates forfeited to the Commonwealth for treason. The manorial court rolls, which number many hundreds, are distributed among the following boroughs, hundreds, lordships, and manors in Montgomeryshire and Salop:-

Brithdir, Caereinion, Cedewain, Chirbury (with records of the sheriff's hundred court), Duparts, Halceter, Kerry, Llanerchydol, Llanfyllin, Llanwddyn, Mechain (Uchcoed and Iscoed), Mochnant, Montgomery, Oswestry, Pool, Teirtref, Tirymynech and Ystrad Marchell, or Streetmarshall as it is generally called.

An early seventeenth-century manuscript, which bears the autographs of Edward and Owen Vaughan of Llwydiarth, contains (in addition to questions with legal opinion by Sir John Lloyd, serjeant-at-law, concerning the custom of the barony of Powis) a rental of the lordship of Kynlleth Owen, and an assessment of a lewn of £110 levied in January, 1596, upon the several hundreds of Montgomeryshire to buy more powder, match and bullets, and towards the providing of 'dartes pickeaxes and shovells'.

Another interesting group of documents relates to the lead and silver mines of Cardiganshire from the middle of the eighteenth century to the early years of the nineteenth. This group includes account books of expenditure in wages and subsistence at Esgair Mwyn mine under the superintendence of Lewis Morris from 1752 to 1755; Esgair Mwyn accounts, 1795-1802; Aberystwyth Anchor Smelting House accounts, 1789-95; Esgair Mwyn and Fron Goch mines bargain books, 1792-8, etc. The account books for 1753 contain references, in the autograph of Lewis Morris, to the riots which took place in February of that year when he was taken as a prisoner to Cardigan gaol. One volume consists of abstracts of the accounts of Lewis Morris from 1752 to 1755 with a statement of the standing improvements made by him at Esgair Mwyn. These abstracts have been annotated in red ink and the notes are occasionally signed with the initials J. P., so that it would appear that this is the volume of abstracts which Lewis Morris submitted to John Tidy and John Paynter who were appointed by the Treasury to examine his accounts in 1755.

Blwyddyn / Year

Disgrifiad / Description

THE BODEWRYD MANUSCRIPTS AND DOCUMENTS, consisting of over 100 manuscripts and nearly 600 documents, supplementing the large collection deposited by Mr. Sotheby in 1931. A large number of these manuscripts were written by or for Edward Wynne, LLD, DCL, Chancellor of the diocese of Hereford (died 1755), and by several members of the important families with which he was connected. There is a copy of a Latin speech delivered at Beaumaris by Dr Robert Morgan, bishop of Bangor from 1667 to 1673, and some manuscripts by his son, Robert Morgan, DD, once headmaster of Ruthin Grammar School and afterwards rector of Ross and a canon of Hereford, and by his son-in-law, Dr Humphrey Humphreys, bishop of Bangor, 1689-1701, and of Hereford, 1701-12. Chancellor Wynne's mother was a daughter of Bishop Robert Morgan, and his father was Edward Wynne, rector of Llanddyfnan, who died in 1682. Some of the booklets of sermon notes in this collection may be by this Edward Wynne, others are certainly the work of his brother Robert (died 1720), rector of Llanddeiniolen.

A number of the manuscripts are earlier than the time of Chancellor Wynne. Of these the following may be particularly noted:-

a. WELSH POETRY from the fourteenth century to the beginning of the seventeenth, transcribed by Sion Phylip, the Ardudwy poet.

b. AWDLAU WILIAM KYNWAL. Forty-three odes composed and written by Wiliam Kynwal between 1567 and 1576, accompanied by sketches of the arms of the persons addressed, except the odlau merch which are illustrated by quaint drawings of women. The author began the manuscript at Cerrig Ellgwm-yn fy siambr vy hun yngherig Ellgwm y trydydd dydd o vis mai o vewn yssbyty dol gynwal.

c. 'MR. LANGFORD'S BOOK OF GENEALOGIES'. A miscellaneous collection of pedigrees compiled by Thomas Langford between 1611 and 1625.

d. 'WELSH ANTIQUITIES, - miscellaneous historical papers which include a copy of a list of the inhabitants of Anglesey who were amerced for being in arms and rebellion with Owen Glyndyfrdwy, 1406, with a table of the fines, copies of jury panels and a list of outlaws. A portion of the text, - the lists for the commote of Llivon from a fragment found among the papers of Edward Lhuyd - was published in Archaeologia Cambrensis, Ser. III, Vol. V, p. 177.

The remainder consists of literary and genealogical manuscripts. They include an account of the Goodman family with transcripts of documents made for Dr. Wynne by Goronwy Owen during the Christmas holidays of 1739; manuscripts relating to charitable institutions at Ruthin, Clun and Ross; a copy of the Latin Life of St David by Ricemarch; a late seventeenth-century copy of Sir John Wynn's History of the Gwydir Family; copies of 'Annales Cambriae' and of the chronicles of Alfred of Beverley, Robert of Torigni, etc.; manuscripts relating to the city and diocese of Hereford, e.g. a copy of the Customs of Hereford written c. 1560, extracts from the register books, etc., by the Chancellor and Dr Robert Morgan, commutation accounts, etc.; precedents in ecclesiastical law compiled by Chancellor Wynne; account books, including one kept by Roger Lloyd to record receipts for his brother Dr Thomas Yale, 1556-66, and a number of volumes of Bodewryd estate accounts, 1683-1753; notes on rural economy taken out of books on husbandry and illustrated by references to methods used at Bodewryd; a number of school or college notebooks; letters, including one from William Baxter to Edward Lhuyd, 1708, and two Latin letters written by William Williams from St. Donat's Castle to Edward Wynne, 1706; a list, with abstracts, of letters written to Bishop Robert Morgan, 1665-72, and to Dr Robert Morgan, 1680-1705; sermons and sermon notes in Welsh and English.

The documents, which date from the thirteenth century to the early years of the nineteenth, supplement those which were deposited in 1931. A large number of them relate to lawsuits, particularly to a lengthy suit between Chancellor Wynne and the Mostyn family arising out of the purchase of the Bodowir estate, and to several actions for the possession of pews in churches. There are also numerous letters and papers which relate to the Plas Einion estate in Denbighshire. (Chancellor Wynne married Anne, daughter and heiress of John Lloyd of Plas Einion, and she resided there for a considerable part of her married life.) Miscellaneous items among these documents include a roll of the freeholders of the commote of 'Turkellyn' in 1598, written in Welsh and in a literary hand with a Latin superscription written in an official hand, and papers relating to the affairs of Sir Robert Owen of Porkington in 1694. Complete catalogues of the Sotheby and Bodewryd groups have been prepared and are now available for use by readers.

Disgrifiad / Description

Two manuscript volumes relating to the dioceses of Bangor and St Asaph.

1. A fifteenth-century manuscript containing copies of records of the temporalities of the diocese of Bangor. The records include an extent of the temporalities made in the sixth year of Prince Edward [? the Black Prince, 1335], of which there are other copies in Harleian MSS 696 and 4,776 which formed the bases of the text printed in the Record of Caernarvon, 1838. The beginning of this copy is missing, and the first folios are imperfect, but the text agrees in the main with that printed in the Record of Caernarvon from pages 93 to 115. There are some differences in arrangement, and in some of the totals, and a great difference in the spelling of proper names. It is, however, possible that a number of these have been incorrectly transcribed in the printed work. The extent is followed by copies of a compotus of David Daron, Dean of Bangor, [1399], which relates to the same temporalities, an inquisition respecting rents due towards the altar of St Daniel, 1439, an inquisition of the lands of the bishopric taken in 1436, a writ to cause the Dean and Chapter of Bangor to render a compotus of the issues of their temporalities, with documents relating thereto, 1447.

2. A volume of miscellaneous papers relating to the diocese of St Asaph, written or copied in the late seventeenth and early eighteenth centuries. The papers include copies of rent rolls, valuations, and terriers of the revenues, tithes, churches and lands of the bishopric; copies of documents, grants, legal bills and counsel's opinions relating to the same; and a number of letters addressed to the bishops of St Asaph, including a letter, dated February 13, 1711/12, from William Lloyd, Bishop of Worcester, to William Fleetwood, Bishop of Bangor, in which he refers to the disappearance of LLYFR COCH ASAPH.
