Ffynhonnell / Source

The late The Right Honourable Lord Gladstone of Hawarden.

Blwyddyn / Year

Adroddiad Blynyddol / Annual Report 1934-35

Disgrifiad / Description

THE GLYNNE OF HAWARDEN FAMILY PAPERS AND DOCUMENTS, consisting of:-

Volumes of personal diaries and travel journals.

Volumes of rentals, accounts and other estate records.

Numerous autograph letters, election papers and legal and miscellaneous documents.

The diaries, fifty-five in number, cover, with many gaps, 1753-1874. They were kept by Sir John Glynne, sixth baronet; Rev Sir Stephen Glynne, seventh baronet; Mary Neville, wife of Sir Stephen R. Glynne, eighth baronet, and Henry Glynne, his son Mary Glynne, afterwards Lady Lyttelton; Sir Stephen Richard Glynne, ninth baronet; and W. H. Gladstone.

The sixteen travel journals were written by Sir Stephen R Glynne, ninth baronet, between 1824 and 1866, and record his tours in North and South Wales, Scotland, the continent of Europe and the Near East.

The volumes of accounts range from 1690 to 1872, and consist of rentals, estate, household, and personal accounts, inventories, election expenses, colliery accounts, lists of charities distributed, etc.

In a group of miscellaneous volumes are notes on history, genealogy and ecclesiology, ships' log-books (1727-30 and 1734-9), lists of voters, etc., in the Flintshire parliamentary election of 1734 and copies of indentures.

The loose documents and papers, which are very numerous, consist of estate papers in the form of deeds and other legal documents, schedules of deeds, estate maps, plans, surveys, rentals, accounts, bills, vouchers, etc., ranging from the seventeenth century to the nineteenth, with the majority belonging to the eighteenth; papers connected with various Flintshire parliamentary elections between 1727 and 1837; a separate group of legal papers which belonged to a lawyer named Dovey and do not relate to Glynne affairs; about 600 letters written by and to members of the Glynne family and the Right Hon. W. E. Gladstone, among the most interesting of which may be mentioned two letters sent to Gladstone in 1858 from Roumanian ministers, conveying their own and their country's thanks to him for having supported the cause of the Danubian Principalities; and a number of papers of a miscellaneous nature.

This material supplements to some extent the 'Hawarden Castle Deeds and Documents' which were deposited by Lord Gladstone some years ago, and of the contents of which a Calendar was published by the Library in 1931.

OTTLEY, JENKINSON AND COTES PAPERS.

The Ottley Papers include a volume of neatly-written contemporary transcripts of documents relating to the office of the justices of the peace in Shropshire, 1590-7, particularly to their duties in connection with the regulation of alehouses, the sale of corn, and the militia; a transcript of the Queen's general instructions to Henry, Earl of Pembroke, President of the Council in Wales and the Marches, as well as his orders to the deputy lieutenants and the records of the proceedings of the justices; original Civil War letters, some of which were printed, from a transcript, in Transactions of the Shropshire Archaeological and Natural History Society, 1894-6; a volume of Ottley family memoranda from 1566; some memoranda relating to the diocese of St. Davids, including an estimate of the cost of repairs to the Cathedral in 1719; over sixty letters from Adam Ottley to his wife, 1724-1832; transcripts of English poetry; deeds, and drafts of pedigrees.

The Jenkinson Manuscripts include letter-books (1808-10) of the Hon. Charles Cecil Cope Jenkinson (afterwards third Earl of Liverpool), and his diary from March to July 1809.

The Cotes Papers include letters addressed to Thomas Cotes, esquire, vice-admiral of His Majesty's White Squadron, c. 1760-4; wills; pedigrees and miscellaneous correspondence.

There are also copies of printed letters and pamphlets which passed between Charles Baldwyn and his son, William Childe, 1781-6, and papers relating to the quarrel and threatened duel between Thomas Pitt, second Baron Camelford, and George Vancouver, explorer, 1796-7. Original letters of Camelford and Vancouver are included.

THE GLYNLLIFON MANUSCRIPTS AND DOCUMENTS, consisting mainly of the older muniments of the extensive estates of Glynllifon, Bodfean, the Abbey and Melai. This large archive, which is now being catalogued, includes account books, manorial records, slate quarry records, railway plans and documents, Caernarvonshire borough and election papers, militia records, letters, deeds, drafts of legal documents, and miscellaneous papers and pamphlets.

Among the account books of the Glynllifon and Bodfean estates are:-

Two volumes of the accounts of fees received at audits held at Carmarthen and Brecon, 1763-8, of the issues of the seven counties of South Wales, and of business transacted at the prothonotary's office for the Anglesey circuit, 1793-7.

Sir Thomas Wynn, who became first baron Newborough in 1776, was granted the office of auditor to the Court of Exchequer for the thirteen counties of Wales in 1756, and followed his brother, Glyn Wynn, as prothonotary for the Anglesey circuit in 1793.

The history of the Caernarvonshire boroughs and their representation in Parliament is illustrated by a small group of manuscripts which includes:-

A stamped register of the burgesses of Nevyn, 1707-13.

A poll-book recording the votes cast for Thomas Wynn and William Price, esquires, at the election for a Burgess of Parliament, April 3, 1722, when Thomas Wynn, who was of Bodfean, secured the majority.

Lists of Pwllheli burgesses in the eighteenth century.

A canvass book for Caernarvon, 1852.

The militia records consist of:-

A book of laws and a muster book of the 'society' or garrison at Fort Williamsbourg in Glynllifon Park, which was instituted September 22, 1761.

Militia warrants, 1762-99, including the appointment of Thomas, Lord Newborough, to be lieutenant-colonel commandant of the Loyal Association of the Coast of Caernarvon, 1799.

A weekly return of arms and stores of the Royal Caernarvonshire Grenadiers at Fort Williamsbourg and Caernarvon, 1773.

Returns of Abermenai barracks, 1776.

Correspondence with the War Office in the matter of the accounts of the Glynllifon Volunteers, 1814-18.

Accounts of disbursements made upon Fort St. Davids, 1824-5.

Industrial records are represented by:-

A number of well-preserved account books of the Glynrhonwy (Llanrug) and Ffestiniog slate quarries, 1822-32.

Bundles of notices to owners of land required for the construction of several North Wales railways, 1860-5.

Sessional plans of the following lines - Llangollen and Corwen, 1859, Llyfni Vale, 1859-60, Merionethshire, 1861-2, and Bala, 1861-2.

The manorial records comprise court rolls and miscellaneous papers relating to the manor of Ardda (Dolgarrog), sometime parcel of the possessions of the abbey of Maenan, 1758-1875.

A short account of the manor, written by Dr O. O. Roberts, is included amongst the miscellaneous papers.

The deeds and legal instruments, 1428-1879, relate to properties in Anglesey, Caernarvonshire, Denbighshire, Cardiganshire, Merioneth, St. Mary le Bone, Newington, Lambeth and Cambridge.
