SIR H IDRIS BELL

1966010

Ffynhonnell / Source

Sir Harold Idris Bell, C.B., O.B.E., LL.D., Aberystwyth.

Blwyddyn / Year

Adroddiad Blynyddol / Annual Report 1965-66

Disgrifiad / Description

Sir Idris has regularly, over the years, passed on to the Library the current issues of a number of foreign learned journals. He has now presented to the Library his entire personal collection amounting to over 1,000 books and 600 volumes of periodicals (Dept of Printed Books).

His Welsh interests are represented by some 400 literary texts, studies, novels, essays, and poetry, mainly belonging to the twentieth century.

As may be expected for one so eminently known in the fields of classical and papyrological studies, Sir Idris's collection of books and periodicals in these subjects forms an exceptionally fine acquisition of which the Library can be justly proud. The section concerned with papyrology is equal to any of the other notable specialist libraries acquired in the past, and Sir Idris may rest assured that every effort will be made to develop it by the acquisition of new material.

From the wealth of texts and studies contained in the collection it is difficult to select items for particular mention but the following will give some indication of the general quality: sets of the Oxyrhynchus papyri; Publicazioni della Società Italiana per la ricerca dei Papiri greci e latini in Egitto; Munchener Beitrage zur Papyrus forschung und antiken Rechts geschichte; Michigan Papyri.

Schweich Lectures; Corpus Papyrorum Judaicarum. Studia hellenistica; Chester Beatty Biblical Papyri; The Codex Alexandrinus in reduced facsimile . . . (London, 1915); The Tebtanis Papyri edited by B. P. Grefell, A. S. Hunt and J. G. Smyly (London, 1902); Grammatik der Griechischen papyri . . . by Edwin Mayser (Berlin, 1938); Apokrimata: decisions of Septimus Severus on legal matters ... by W. L. Westermann and A. A. Schiller (New York, 1954), Papyri Greci delle collezione italiane by Medea Norsa (Roma, 1933-46); Excavations at Nessana . . . edited by Caspar J. Kraemer (Princeton, 1958); Mizraim: the Journal of Papyrology . . .

Other well known papyrologists whose works are included are Carl Wessely, Ernst Kornemann, Paul M. Meyer, Peter Jernstedt, Gregor Zereteli, O. Krueger, Joseph Bidez, Franz Camount, Fritz M. Heichelheim, Ulrich Kahrstedt, Claire Préaux, Wilhelm Schubart, Ulrich Wilcken, and Karl Preisendanz.

It is interesting to note the number of books presented by their authors to Sir Idris as a mark of their affection and gratitude.

In addition to the above there are a number of books which formed part of the library of the donor's father. Among them are Dodoens Niewe herbal [? 1578]; Gerard's Herball, 1597; Bacon's Sylva Sylvarum, 1664; the [? 1632] edition of Salusta du Bartas; Pliny's Historie of the world, 1601; CaInden's Britannia; Minshen's Guide into tongues, 1627; and Harris, Navigantium atque itinerantium bibliotheca, 1705.

True to his long established custom, Mr. Llewellyn-Taylor has again presented the Library with a very wide selection of printed books ranging from 1520 to 1965, and amounting to over 200 volumes (Dept of Printed Books).

Among the more notable items from the sixteenth century are works by Boccaccio, Guillaume Bude, Erasmus Aulus Gellius, Antonio Manuzio, Giovanni Francesco Pico, Carlo Sigonio, C. Julius Solinus, Sir William Stannford, and Torquato Tasso; and an imperfect copy of the 1581 Latin Bible.

From the seventeenth century is an equally interesting selection of books by Francis Bacon, John Bertels, Nathaniel Brisbie, Sir Thomas Pope Blount, Gilbert Burnet, Sir Thomas Burnet, Thomas Cranmer, John Davis (the Navigator), Joannes de Laet, Thomas Long (Prebendary of Exeter), John Preston, and Robert Sanderson; together with a small but useful collection of Civil War Tracts, Acts of Parliament, and speeches and declarations by King Charles II.

Among later works are several early editions of the works of Rudyard Kipling, a miscellaneous collection of guide books, and pamphlets relating to the activities of the Fauna Preservation Society, the National Trust, the Society for the Preservation of World Wild Life, and the International Union for the Conservation of Nature and Natural Resources, and The Friends of Llandaff Cathedral, in all of which Mr. Llewellyn-Taylor is actively interested.

Also in the collection are albums of photographs and pictorial postcards, scrapbooks containing engraved views, portraits, and miscellaneous prints relating to National Parks in South Africa and North America, and collections of stamps, including British commemorative, Commonwealth and foreign stamps (Dept of Pictures and Maps).

Disgrifiad / Description

A valuable group of manuscript volumes from the Powis Castle library, supplementing the collections already deposited in the National Library of Wales and including manuscripts of the works of Edward, Lord Herbert of Cherbury (1583-1648).

An incomplete draft (pp. 13-28, 33-72, 85-100, 105-120, 137-144) of the Autobiography of Edward, Lord Herbert of Cherbury, probably in the hand of a scribe or scribes with emendations by the author, c. 1642. This is the earliest known version of the work and contains some passages not included in the published editions.

A copy in a hand of the first half of the 18th century of 'The Life of Edward Lord Herbert of Cherbury, written by Himself', on which the first edition (by Horace Walpole in 1764) of this work is based.

A manuscript of Edward, Lord Herbert of Cherbury's 'De Religione Laici', bearing the title 'Appendix Libr' De Veritate'. The end differs from that of the published version of 1645 and has an addition entitled 'Responsio J G petenti Quid Laicus de Relligione optima Statuerit'. First half 17th century.

A manuscript of Edward, Lord Herbert of Cherbury's ['The Expedition to the Isle of Re', 1627].

A Latin translation of the above entitled 'Expeditio in Ream Insulam, 1627'. The dedication to Charles I is dated Castle of Montgomery Aug. 1, 1631.

A treatise on France, entitled on the outer cover in an 18th century hand and on the spine in modern gilt lettering 'Observations of France', [by Edward, Lord Herbert of Cherbury]. Begins with dedication to King Charles I. The work (pp. 150) was written after the author's period as Ambassador in France, 1619-24. 17th century.

Holograph of the poem by Edward, Lord Herbert of Cherbury, entitled 'The Idea'. Also a modern copy of a poem by Beatrix Herbert, daughter of Edward, Lord Herbert of Cherbury.

A volume entitled 'Certayne godlye instructions necessarye precepts and examples for myne owne Remembrance, collected (for the most part) out of the Byble'. Early 17th century.

A volume entitled 'Certanie select Remembrances tending to the instruction of a godlie and christian life, observed out of sondrie readings'. Inscribed on the fly-leaf: 'My 2 bok of Collections / . . . virtute non vi/W. Lloide'. Companion volume to the above. At the end: a carol beginning 'Upon my Lape my soveraigne sits/And sucks upon my brest . . .' with the refrain 'Singe Lullaby my little boy/ Singe lullaby my Lives joy'. First half 17th century.

An armorial of English families arranged alphabetically and lists of families having certain charges (crosses, saltires) in their arms, with pedigrees of Herefordshire, Worcestershire and Gloucestershire families (two of the later entries are dated 1572 and 1580). 16th century.

A miscellany of verse, pedigrees, historical notes and records including two sets of verses on the death of Mrs. Anne Humphreys, 1698, an account of the family of Ievan ap Meredith of Kesselgyfarch and Kefnyvan and his brother Robert and their descendants, pedigrees of the families of Wynn of Gwydr and Berthddu, Lloyd of Rhiwaedog, and Vaughan of Glyndyfrdwy, an account of Owen Glyndwr and the revolt, and copies of records relating to the estate of Charles, Lord Cornwallis, and the stewardship of the manor of Waburne, co. Norfolk, 1673. Late 17th century.

A journal kept [? by Henry Arthur, Earl of Powis] during a journey through France, Switzerland and Germany, 1770.

An 18th century volume containing memorials and copies of records of the Band of Gentlemen Pensioners, 1509-1741.

A manuscript copy of a work entitled 'Clavis Scientiae/tum Speculativae tum practicae / de Deo, / viam Aperiens rectam / ad / Cognitionem pariter et cultum / Divinae Maiestatis / . . . Londini / 1708 [altered in one place to 1698]. Latin.

Notes on the history of medieval Wales and the Herbert family. Early 19th century.

Four volumes of letters and documents, 1835-49, relating to the proposed union of the dioceses of St. Asaph and Bangor, and two volumes of letters and documents 1831-42, relating to the Chartist riots in Montgomeryshire.

Ffynhonnell / Source
Sir John Hussey Hamilton Vivian, 4th baron Swansea, Caer Beris, Builth Wells.
Blwyddyn / Year
Adroddiad Blynyddol / Annual Report 1965-66
Disgrifiad / Description
An extensive group of letters and papers of the family of Vivian of Truro and Swansea, consisting mainly of nineteenth century correspondence largely relating to the copper trade and industry, politics, and family affairs. The material falls into two main groups, the one relating to John Henry Vivian (1785-1855), M.P. for Swansea, 1832-55, and the other to his eldest son, Henry Hussey Vivian, 1st baron Swansea (1821-94), M.P., for Truro, 1852-7, Glamorgan, 1857-85, and Swansea, 1855-93. There are almost 1,200 letters addressed to J. H. Vivian. About 600 letters, 1807-26, are from John Vivian of Truro, his father, nearly all containing details relating to the copper industry and trade in Cornwall. Another 250 letters, 1813, 1818-42, are from Richard Hussey Vivian, 1st baron Vivian, his eldest brother, relating to the copper industry, politics (mainly c. 1832) and family affairs, with a few references to Irish affairs. The other correspondents include the 2nd Marquis of Bute, Sir Christopher Cole, William Crawshay, Sir Humphrey Davy, L. W. Dillwyn, Michael Faraday, and C. M. Talbot. The remainder of J. H. Vivian's papers include some of political interest, including statements of his political views, in particular of the 1832 Reform Bill; the case for Swansea to be the principal borough of a new district of boroughs represented in parliament; letters of thanks to the electors for their promises of support for his candidature, 1831-2; addresses from the electors of Swansea pledging their support for his re-election; minutes of a conversation with Napoleon Bonaparte ... at Elba in January 1815 (London, 1839) published by J. H. Vivian, with letters of appreciation of the pamphlet, including one from W. E. Gladstone; notes and remarks on his journey to Ireland in 1811, visiting Amlwch en route, and a few loose sheets containing journal entries probably by J. H. Vivian; militia papers, 1808-11, mainly relating to the third detachment of the Royal Stannary Artillery Regiment on duty at Plymouth Dock, September-October, 1809; papers relating to roads in the Swansea district, mainly concerning a proposed diversion, 1826-8, of the parish road from Sketty Green to the Oystermouth-Swansea turnpike road; Observations on the wagon way power in the Glamorgan Roads Act 1805, a general statement of the accounts of the turnpike roads in the Swansea district, 1824-5, and a letter from L. W. Dillwyn, 1827, describing the proceedings of a House of Commons committee concerning a proposed bridge at Foxhole; correspondence, 1826-7, relating to the dissolution of a partnership after the death of John Vivian of Truro; proposed arrangement of J. H. Vivian's account in the Hafod concern, 1846; and a few accounts, 1818-21.
The material connected with Sarah Vivian, wife of J. H. Vivian, consists of a few letters, two account books, 1826-38, and six volumes containing journals of tours in Europe (France, Holland, Belgium, Germany, Australia, and Italy) in 1823, 1830 and 1850, an undated journal of a tour in Europe, and one journal of a tour in Ireland in 1831. There is also a volume containing extracts, 1816-39, from her pocket books and journals with family notes and pedigrees, compiled by Sarah Vivian in 1849, with a typescript copy of the same.

The bulk of the material connected with Henry Hussey Vivian consists of family and industrial papers, but there is also a large group of letters mainly of political interest. The correspondents include H. A. Bruce (later 1st baron Aberdare), W. Hicks Beach, the Marquis of Bute, Joseph Chamberlain, H. E. Childers, G. T. Clark, Lord Cranbrook, David Davies, Llandinam, Messrs. Duncan and Ward, T. E. Ellis, W. E. Gladstone, W. V. Harcourt, Lord Hartington, Lord Herschell, Lord Idlesleigh, Lord Jersey, Lord Kensington, Thomas Levi, Aberystwyth, J. D. Llewellyn, Pennllergare, Edward Majoribanks, Hugh Owen, Lord Rosebery, Edward Stanhope, C. R. M. Talbot, Theodore Talbot, and G. O. Trevelyan.

There are also small groups of letters and papers relating to the following subjects: Glamorganshire Volunteers, 1861, the Royal Commission on Coal, 1866, the Reigate election, 1866, proposal to offer a peerage to C. R. M. Talbot, 1868-9, subscription to Roman Catholic Schools in Swansea, 1868, 1872, subscription to the South Wales Daily News, 1872, the Glamorgan parliamentary election, 1874, Sketty schools, 1874, Sunday Closing (Permissive Bill), 1875, South Wales conciliation board (mainly in connection with Mr. Macdonald), 1875, appointment of magistrates in Glamorgan, 1877, evidence before the Noxious Vapours Commission, 1877, the publication of Notes of tour in America, 1878 (the letters of appreciation include one from W. Hussey Vivian and Samuel Whitbread, and correspondence with the Liberal Committee for the maintenance of Legislative Union between Great Britain and Ireland which explain H. Hussey Vivian's position in the controversy.

Diaries kept by H. Hussey Vivian for 1844, 1855, 1887-93, and commonplace books containing industrial statistics, production costs, estimates of votes, etc. (the 1844 diary contains details of negotiations for the formation of the first Copper Trade Association); a works letter book, 1844, and a letter book, 1863-9, mainly relating to business matters; rentals for 1874, 1876-90, 1892-3, and miscellaneous estate accounts and accounts relating to improvements and additions at Singleton, 1887; private bank pass books, 1885-93; an account book containing various accounts including Hafod Isha accounts, 1864-81; estate pay books, 1888-94; a receipt book for refinery poles hauled from Gellyhir Wood, mainly to the Hafod copper works, 1892-4, 1898-9; a colliery journal (account book), 1878-89; and a profit and loss account for the Brynwilach colliery, 1877.

The remainder of the material connected with Henry Hussey Vivian relates to family and industrial matters, viz., trusts, settlements, wills, executorships, investments, the sharing and management of industrial undertakings, 1854-6, the Vivian partnership (mainly 1868, 1879-92), etc.

A group of letters, 1879-94, written by Henry Hussey Vivian to his third wife, Averil (nee Beaumont), and a few other letters addressed to her, and two diaries, 1927-8, kept by her; two diaries, 1917-18, kept by Odo Vivian, later 3rd baron Swansea, whilst on active service in France, and letters addressed to him, including letters from his father concerning his studies at Cambridge; and letters relating to H. H. Vivian and Co., 1897-1906, and Vivian and Son Holding Co., 1925-6.

A small group of letters, 1811-23, addressed to John Vivian of Truro including a number, 1821, 1823, relating to the difficulties of the Chasewater Mine Adventurers; A tide table . . . on Swansea Bar with various other useful matters for the year 1826 containing brief entries by John Vivian; and a small group of letters addressed to Richard Hussey Vivian, 1st baron Vivian, including two letters, 1841 (one a copy), from Lord John Russell.

Personalalia and pedigree material, including inventories of silver, jewellery, pictures, etc., and photographs of members of the Vivian family; a vellum pedigree of the Cottons, deriving from the lords of the manor of Cotton, near Chester, compiled for William [Cotton], bishop of Exeter, in 1601, by William Camden, Clarenceux King of Arms.

The miscellaneous material in the archive includes five scrapbooks containing mainly newspaper cuttings but also some election broadsides, programmes, bidding letters, 1815-33, maps and letters mainly addressed to Mr. and Mrs. John Biddulph; observations by J. Canthero, 1720, relating to charters and privileges granted to the tanners of Cornwall; reports and statistics relating to the copper industry in Cornwall, 1734-63, 1811-26, and Hafod copper works, 1811-28; pamphlets, etc., 1799-1800, relating to the controversy initiated by Birmingham manufacturers relating to the price of copper; plans of St. John's church, Swansea, and of the road from Penrice demesne to Fairwood moor; particulars of Lansamlet estate and Havod Farm, 1821; a quarter sessions resolution for the building of a gaol and a house of correction in Cardiff, 1825; proposal for a breakwater at Mumbles Head, 1833; times of the mail coach from Bristol to Carmarthen at the New Passage, Black Rock, Swansea, and Carmarthen, 1833-4; an essay by 'Gwyddno' on Swansea castle, a subject proposed by the Druidic Society of the Ancient Order of Druids for their eisteddfod at Swansea in 1841; a plan of the Singleton estate, 1851; a short biography of the 1st Lord Vivian of Truro; and four interesting letters from Sybil Hamilton and Clare Willis describing conditions in Dublin during the rising of Easter 1916.

A few printed books (Dept of Printed Books) and maps (Dept of Pictures and Maps), including Kitchin's Post-Chaise Companion through England and Wales, 1767; assessments for co. Glamorgan 1826 and 1869 and three pamphlets, 1876, relating to the assessment; Contributions towards a history of Swansea by L. W. Dillwyn, 1840; The Swansea Guide by John Lewis, 1851; The smelting of copper in the Swansea district by Major Grant Francis (three copies, one of the 1867 limited edition, and two of the 1881 edition, one a presentation copy), and a few other pamphlets of local interest; Specimens of Inlaid Tiles from Neath Abbey published by the Neath Philosophical Institution, with some sketches by Mrs. Vivian; a 1" geological map of S.W. Glamorgan, 1833; and George Yates's map of co. Glamorgan published by John Cary, 1799.

The depositor has also permitted the Library to take a photocopy of a late 19th century pedigree roll of the Vivian family tracing the descent to the 13th century.
