A volume containing a collection of Welsh poetry ('Casgliad o Gywyddau, Englynion, Penillion, &c.) by various authors, largely from North Wales, written in an unidentified hand, possibly in or soon after 1872, the latter being the date of two 'englynion', at the end of the collection; there are also some proverbs, etc. ('Hen ddjarhebon a dywediadau') (NLW MS 20698B). The numerous poets whose work is represented include [David Richards] ('Dafydd Ionawr'), [Ebenezer Thomas] ('E[ben] Fardd'), Clynog, Robert Davies, Nantglyn, [Robert Parry] ('Robyn Ddu Eryri'), [Hugh Hughes] ('H[uw Tegail]'), and J[ohn] Ceiriog Hughes. Later entries, 1884-6, in a youthful hand appear to be linked with Welshpool. A note by the donor on the provenance of the manuscript connects it with the family of John Edwards ('Meiriadog'; 1813-1906), Llanfair Caereinion, co. Montgomery, but the handwriting does not appear to be that of 'Meiriadog'.

HISTORIA REGUM BRITANNIAE

1972130

Blwyddyn / Year

Adroddiad Blynyddol / Annual Report 1971-72

Disgrifiad / Description

A manuscript of Geoffrey of Monmouth's Historia Regum Britanniae, preceded by the Troianorum Historia of Dares Phrygius, written, according to the colophon, by William of Wodechercle, monk and former lay brother of Robertsbridge Abbey in Sussex, in the second half of the thirteenth century, formerly Phillipps MS 26233 (NLW MS 13210D). The text of the Historia Regum Britanniae is unusually interesting and as complicated as any yet analysed. The underlying text is that of the Variant Version published by Hammer (from the five manuscripts of it then known), thought to be the work of a Welshman, and is closely related to Hammer's H (Harleian MS 6358), but it is freer of careless errors than H and, unlike H, the Variant text continues to the end. The text of the new manuscript (now referenced NLW MS 13210D) is however complicated by a conflation exactly analogous to that of the Cardiff MS . (Hammer's C). In each case a redactor with access to a vulgate text has produced an 'improved' Variant Version. The redactor of the NLW text departs far less than C from the Variant Version. He grafts onto his text passages from the vulgate omitted and curtailed in the Variant Version. His treatment of his vulgate source is fairly free. His choice of passages from the vulgate is selective, they are sometimes themselves curtailed - he sometimes re-phrases sentences; he makes small additions of his own. Probably this redactor was not William of Wodecherche himself but the scribe of his exemplar or of an earlier antecedent. Further noteworthy points about the NLW Variant text are that it is the only text of the Variant Version to define itself (Explicit hystoria brittonum correcta et abbreviata); it is the only one of known provenance; it is, like H, divided into books, though with slightly different divisions; a portion of Book XI is wanting and has been since at latest the sixteenth century (II. 111-365 in Hammer), probably due to the loss of two bifolia in the middle of the last quire after f. 62. The NLW manuscript belonged to Archbishop Mathew Parker and bears the red crayon pagination associated with him. It is listed in Parker's register but appears never to have been received by Corpus Christi College, Cambridge. In Parker's time and perhaps from the first, the manuscript was bound with Phillipps MSS 26641 (William of Malmesbury) and 26642 (Giraldus Cambrensis). The present binding is eighteenth century half leather and marbled boards. The manuscript is large (12¾" x 9¼"), written in a skilful text hand, has red and blue parti-coloured initials at the beginnings of books, and is in good condition.

ARMS AND PEDIGREES

1972131

Blwyddyn / Year

Adroddiad Blynyddol / Annual Report 1971-72

Disgrifiad / Description

A large folio volume (120 ff.) of arms and pedigrees apparently compiled in the period c. 1590 - c. 1604 (NLW MS 20898E). It comprises (a) (ff. 1-16) an armorial mostly of Welsh ancestor figures and families of Flintshire, Denbighshire and Cheshire, the arms, as throughout the volume, finely emblazoned and painted; (b) (ff. 26-53v) copies of some eighty documents, 13-15 cent. (deeds, wills, letters, extracts from court rolls), relating to the families of Puleston, Hanmer, Bulkeley, Barr and Almer, with connected pedigrees and genealogical data, all emblazoned; (c) (ff. 55-120v) pedigrees of families again mostly of Flintshire, Denbighshire, and Cheshire, not in tabular form, again all emblazoned. The binding of gold-stamped red morocco is by Riviere. No compiler or scribe identifies himself but the concurrence of genealogies in the second part of the volume point to Edward Puleston (born 1547), the eldest son of Edward Puleston, the second son of Sir Edward Puleston of Llai and Emral; the manuscript indeed proves itself to be the collection of Edward Puleston of Trefalun, known to the main seventeenth century North Wales genealogists (Lewys Dwnn, Peter Ellis, Robert Vaughan, John Salusbury) and then lost sight of. A parchment slip now laid down on the inside of the upper cover (and presumably cut from an old cover) bears the signature of the first Randle Holme, whose hand also appears on f. 8v. On f. 9v. is a note in Lewys Dwnn's hand. There are additions to the third part of the manuscript in several hands up to the mid 17 century. On f. 2 is a note of ownership by Sir Thomas Powell, baronet, no doubt the Sir Thomas Powell of Birkenhead (d. c. 1700) whose mother was a daughter of Edward Puleston.

‘THE TABLE OF CHAPTERS OF THE FIRST BOOK ETC’

1972132

Blwyddyn / Year

Adroddiad Blynnyddol / Annual Report 1971-72

Disgrifiad / Description

A manuscript of 138 leaves of an earlier version of ‘The First Booke of the Description of Penbrookshire in generall’ by George Owen of Henllys than Harleian MS. 6250 (British Museum) which Dr. Henry Owen edited in the Cymmrodorion Record Series, No. 1, in 1892 (NLW MS 13212D). It has no title page but begins with ‘The Table of Chapters of the first book conteyning a description of Penbrokeshire in . . .’ and continues with all the 28 chapters of the work except chapter 26 which is now wanting. This manuscript or a close copy of it was the one used by Richard Fenton for his edition of the work in 1796 in The Cambrian Register II, 53-230. The present manuscript, which is well written and arranged, is probably mainly in the hand of one (or more) of Owen's scribes. At the beginning of chapter 1 (f. 1) is the date ‘Lune 13 Decembr. 1602’, which is the day Owen seems to have begun writing the work, and at the end of the last chapter (f. 135) ‘Finis 18 Maii 1603’ followed by ‘Opus iii Mensu[m] Magna per Intervalla’. At the end of several chapters the author notes the date when he checked the transcript made by the scribe, e.g., at the end of chapter 9 (f. 37b) and chapter 15 (f. 64) ‘ex[aminatur] hucusque 30 Julii 1603’ (crossed out), and at the end of chapters 16-23 (ff. 69, 70b, 72, 75, 79b, 88, 97, 100b) ‘ex[aminatur] 17 Aug., He checked the writing out of the last chapters between 22 and 25 August 1603 (f. 108b, 115, 124b, 135). An interesting feature of the manuscript is the number of emendations, deletions and additions by the author himself with marginal instructions to the scribe preparatory to making a ‘next cople’ of the work. This ‘next cople’ was almost certainly Harleian MS. 6250 in which all the author's corrections and insertions are properly included and all his instructions carried out to the letter. There are of course very many variations in spellings. The volume is roughly bound in vellum, and needs some repairs. On the strength of provenance marks, its chain of ownership after the author's day may be John Owen of Berllan in Eglwysrw, John Lewis of Manarnawan, great-grandfather of Richard Fenton, Erasmus Saunders of Cilrhedyn, Edward Lhuyd, and Sir Thomas Sebright. It was purchased by Machel Stace at the Sebright sale in 1807, and was in the library of the Marquess of Bute when it was reported on by R. B. Knowles for the Historical Manuscripts Commission (Third Report). (Purchased wholly with the aid of a grant from the Friends of the National Library of Wales.)

The volume, now in need of rebinding and some repairing, comprises 476 numbered folio pages (watermark 1807, pp. 136-7 wanting or omitted in pagination, pp. 307-8 cut away), and the text, carefully arranged, consists of a list of contents (`Ei Ddosbarthiad') (p. 4); an index of baptisms and ordinations (`Dangoseg Bedyddiadau ac Urddiadau,') (pp. 5-28, all blank); a brief history of the early cause (`Hanes dechreuad yr Eglwys') (p. 71); a confession of faith (`Cyffes-ffydd yr Eglwys') (p. 73, blank); lists of books and monies in the possession of the church (`Cyfoeth yr Eglwys') (pp. 81-3); lists and/or accounts of ordinations of ministers and deacons (`Hanes Urddiad a sefydliad y Gweinidogion ar Diaconiaid') (pp. 91-5); a list of baptisms (`Bedyddiadau'), 1689-1797, 1806, 1817-54 (with additions, 1894 - 6) (pp. 101-31); a list of members (`Enwau aelodau . . .') compiled in 1897, with annual statistics to 1905 (pp. 132-8)- lists of baptisms, 1897-1905 (p. 144), restorations (`Adferiadau'), 1706-97, 1818-54 (with additions, 1896-1904) (pp. 157-61), admissions by letters (`Derbyniadau Trwy Lythyrau'), 1850-5 (with additions, 1896-1904) (pp. 177-8), excommunications (`Diarddeliadau'), 1705-97, 1817-54 (with additions, 1897-1903) (pp. 189-98), deaths (`Marwolaethau'), 1775-97, 1817-54 (with additions, 1896-1908) (pp. 229-38), dismissals by letters (`Gollyngiadau Trwy Lythyrau'), 1784-5, 1846-52 (with additions, 1896-1904), and marriages (`Priodasau') (p. 277, blank); and a continuation of the history of the church, from 1896 to 1929 (pp. 310-37). The remaining pages of the volume are blank. The work of the original scribe is palpably confined to the period 1844-55, the earlier records on his own evidence having been transcribed from two previous registers, the first ending in 1797 and the second containing entries of baptism for 1806 but not regularly recorded and probably not begun until 1817. The identity of the first of these two sources poses an interesting problem of provenance. Joshua Thomas, in his holograph `History of the Baptist Churches in Wales', records that the early church, around 1704, possessed a church book which `by some accident . . . was rendered useless, and so demolished', but that John Morgan of Cardigan, a `ruling elder', had compiled a transcript of its beginning, extending to the year 1729. Joshua Thomas was able to glean copious information from this transcript, but from such collation as is possible on the basis of his extracts it is very unlikely that this volume can be identified with the first of the two church books used by James Jones.

A register, almost entirely in English, of Hengoed Baptist Church, described on the title-page as 'A Memorandum of the affairs and . . . nsol . . . of the Church of Christ at Hengott in the parish of Kellygare in the County of Glamorgan In South Walls Janr. 15th 1756' (NLW Minor Deposits 1109B). The volume covers the period 1756-1841, and its contents, ill-arranged and intermittently recorded, are lists of members, the earliest compiled on 18 June 1756 and the latest during and after 1811, with the names in some instances distributed under the parishes of Kellygare, Merthyr, Lanvabon, [Eglwys' erased] Hillan, Machain, Bedwellty, Bedwas, and Mynithisloin; entries of baptisms, burials, excommunications, restorations, ordinations of ministers, births of children, etc.; and particulars of financial receipts and disbursements. The records of baptisms, etc., are predominantly from the 1780s and 1790s, and the financial accounts from a period not earlier than 1808. The volume, bound in full parchment, comprises 120 pages, of which 34 are blank, and at the time of deposit was in a seriously mutilated condition, the first 10 leaves especially requiring immediate treatment. Extraneous material, which may help to illustrate the provenance of the volume, include an incomplete copy of a lease, 1843, from William Henry Pardoe of Nant Garn, Glamorgan, artist, to Howell Howells of the parish of Eglwysilan, publican, and Thomas Lewis of Newbridge, moulder, of land at Nant Garn adjoining the Glamorganshire Canal for the erection of a foundry; a few financial entries, 1840-1, associated with Mrs. Ann Williams and Henry Williams, a teacher of Hengoed; and signatures, from the same period, of four members of the family of Davies of Gwerthonor Genol in Hengoed.

A large group of agreements and crew lists, 1863-1913, for merchant ships registered at the port of Aberystwyth. This port included all the smaller ports in Cardiganshire north of New Quay and in the southern part of Merioneth, but the latter group have been placed in the custody of the Archivist for that county. Log books, particularly of the larger ships, are occasionally included, but they seem to contain very little information not found in the other papers.

This group does not include all the records relating to Aberystwyth, as a sample of 10% each have been extracted for preservation at both the Public Record Office and the National Maritime Museum. The former institution retained the papers for every year ending in the digit 5, and the latter as a general rule selected every tenth of the boxes in which these records were stored prior to dispersal to Record Offices and similar repositories.

Disgrifiad / Description

A manuscript of the second half of the 17 cent. belonging to the library bequeathed to the Borough of Welshpool by the late Professor R. U. Sayce of Manchester (NLW Minor Deposits 1075B). It consists mainly of Welsh poetry, written on the dorse of contemporary letters and papers which had previously been folded and roughly stitched together to form a home-made volume.

The poetry, dated within the period 1672-?1708, is largely the work of the principal scribe, Edward Evans, probably of Guilsfield, co. Montgomery, and includes a few items in English and some references to Huw Morys (1662-1709) of Llansilin. There are also fliting and other poems by Thomas Prys, Edmwnd Prys, Sion Phylip, Risiart Phylip, Owen Gwynedd, Ieuan Tew Brydydd, Huw Machno, William Vychan, Sion Tudur, Lewis Dwnn, Robert Ifans, Harri Kydweli, Robert ap Hywel ap Morgan, Sion Ieuan Clywedog, John Owen, and John Wynne, a poem to Gwenfrewi, portions of poems by Hywel ap Rheinallt and Thomas Penllyn, and `englynon, by William Evans, Hugh Morris, Edward Morris, Hugh Cadwaladr, Cadwaladr ap Robert, and Robert Edward. A few pedigrees have been added at the end.

There are seventeen letters, some incomplete, written by Walter Roberts during the years 1656-69. One of the letters is in Welsh and all but two are from Dublin. They are mainly addressed to the writer's cousin, Lewis Evans, `at Llannerchrochwell neare ye Maesmawre in Guildsfield', but there are also some to his father, his sister Ellinor Roberts, his uncles Griffith and ?Edward Thomas `ner Bwlch y Gibe' and one to his nephew.

The papers are nearly all orders and notices concerned with local government and taxation, addressed to the high and petty constables of the hundred of Poole, and in particular relating to the parish of Guilsfield, 1662-7. Among them are the articles of inquiry and return of Lewis Evans and the several petty constables of Guilsfield relating to the vicarage of Guilsfield, August - September 1662. There is also a copy of the will of Howell ap John of Castle, diocese of St. Asaph, 30 December 1661.

In their original binding the folded letters and papers could not be wholly examined, and the volume has now been unstitched, the first few leaves repaired, and the entire volume guarded and rebound in quarter leather. A facsimile of the volume has also been provided for the depositors in exchange for the original.
