According to the original foliation, four folios are missing at the beginning of the manuscript and part of the manuscript is missing at the end ; folios are also missing between the present ff. 9 and 10, and ff. 21 and 22. The paper has been repaired extensively with translucent paper. The volume contains poetry attributed to the following poets: Tho[mas] Prys, Y Meister Sion Tudur, Sr. Gruffydd Owen, y Bedo Brwynllys, Bedo Aryrdrem, Huw Arwystl, Rys Cain, Morys Dwyfech, Sion Phylip, Sr Dafydd Owain, Sr Phylip Emlyn, Ifan Dyfi, Dafydd ap Gwylim, Wm llyn, Sion Cain, y Meistr Hughe Machno, Einion ab Gwalchmai, Sion Mowddwy, Tudur Aled, Dafydd ap Edmwn, Dafydd Nanmor, Gwillim tew brydydd, Lewis Môn, William Cynwal, Mr Roberts or tu hwnt ir môr, and Simwnt vychan, and f. 30 contains notes from a bardic grammar concerning two types of englyn. Within the manuscript there are annotations in an eighteenth century hand which give the floruit dates of some of the poets, e.g. f. 3 '1500 medd Thomas Richards'. These are taken from the list found at the end of Thomas Richards of Coychurch's dictionary, Antiquae Linguae Britannicae Thesaurus. . . (Bristol, 1753). The manuscript's connection with the Mostyn family of Talacre is illustrated by the inclusion of an 'awdl' to Prys Mostyn on f. 27v. and by a note found loose at the end of the volume stating that the manuscript was bound in 1912 by Lady Mostyn, wife of the ninth baronet. The volume is now designated N.L.W. MS. 21582E.

The following printed works were also acquired: BALE, John, The Pageant of Popes, contayninge the lyues of all the Bishops of Rome. (London, 1574). GILDAS. [De excidio Britanniae.] Gildae, cui cognomentum est sapientis, de excidio & conquestu Britanniae &c. (Londini, 1568) (Dept of Printed Books).

CARMINA MAIORA OF CLAUDIUS CLAUDIANUS

1977100

Blwyddyn / Year

Adroddiad Blynyddol / Annual Report 1976-77

Disgrifiad / Description

An early-thirteenth century manuscript of the Carmina maiora of Claudius Claudianus, who lived in Rome c. 395-404 A.D., written in Italy, imperfect by the loss of a quire at the beginning and four leaves elsewhere (one after f. 45, one after f. 68 and two after f. 72) (NLW MS 21589C). The text is consistently very close to Birt's MS. B (see his edition in Monumenta Germaniae Historica, Auct. Ant., X) and as in that MS. the order is Birt's Series VI and the poem De Salvatore follows at the end of the Carmina maiora. Spaces for initials are blank; the manuscript is not rubricated. There are interesting contemporary scholia on the first half of the text. The manuscript is of 74 ff., measures 230 x 120 mm, and is bound in russia, gilt, probably late 18th cent.. It was formerly Phillipps MS. 9155 and is now NLW MS 21589C. Claudian's poetry provides valuable evidence for events of the last years of the Roman occupation of Britain.

SEXTUS JULIUS FRONTINUS

1977101

Blwyddyn / Year

Adroddiad Blynyddol / Annual Report 1976-77

Disgrifiad / Description

A manuscript of the Stratagemata, a treatise on military strategy, of Sextus Julius Frontinus (c. 30-104 A.D.), an author of particular interest to Wales in that he was Governor of Britain and that he subdued the Silures and constructed roads in the country, written c. 1450-60, at Florence (NLW MS 21588C). The manuscript contains 60 leaves with two blank leaves missing at the end, consisting generally of gatherings of ten (the second, however, is of four and the last of eight), with catchwords. The leaves have contemporary foliation LXX-CXXIX, indicating that the manuscript was previously bound with another work, probably the military treatise of Flavius Vegetius Renatus. The text is written in black ink in a fine humanist script with 26 lines to the page and with wide margins in which notes are written in the same hand. It begins with a large gold initial with white vine decoration on a background of dotted blue, red and green, extending the length of two margins, and ending in gold circles with decorative penwork. The initial letters of the first chapters of each book are also illuminated in gold, the first on a ground of blue, green and red, and the others on grounds of blue and red. Other initial letters are often written in blue, and headings are in red. The volume is bound in nineteenth century red velvet. The manuscript is included in a catalogue of 1835 of Messrs. Payne and Foss, and was later Phillipps MS 8533.

GAIUS JULIUS CAESAR

1977102

Blwyddyn / Year

Adroddiad Blynyddol / Annual Report 1976-77

Disgrifiad / Description

A manuscript of the works of Gaius Julius Caesar comprising the De Bello Gallico, together with the eighth book by Aulus Hirtius preceded by Hirtius's letter to Balbus, and the De Bello Civili, together with the Bellum Alexandrium, Bellum Africum and Bellum Hispaniense, all three here attributed to Hirtius (NLW MS 21587D). All the versions in this manuscript are said to be corrected by Julius Celsus Constantinus. The volume contains 212 leaves, with two original flyleaves, in gatherings generally of ten, though the last is of twelve, with catchwords. The text, written in Florence c. 1450-1460, is in a fine humanist hand, with 32 lines to the page and wide margins. Marginal notes are written in the first part of the manuscript in several contemporary humanist hands. Headings, omitted after f. 1 until f. 126, are written in red, and the first words of the De Bello Gallico and of the third book of the De Bello Civili, are both written in alternate red and black capitals. The first work, the De Bello Gallico, opens with a six-line gold initial supporting a border, which extends in two margins, of white vine decoration shaded in yellow on a background of dotted red, blue and green, terminating in gold circles. In the border at the foot of the page a gold vase in the centre supports a space left blank for a coat of arms. There are fourteen other illuminated initials in yellow, one (on f. 22v) having been re-touched in gold. The volume retains its Florentine fifteenth century binding of dark brown goatskin over wooden boards, pannelled in blind with fillets and borders of small knotwork tools, crosses and rosettes, and with lozenge panels in the centre of each cover. The spine is cross-hatched, and the stubs of clasps remain on the covers. On the final flyleaf an erased note of purchase in Rome ends 'pro pretio lx libris'. On the first flyleaf the name 'Guido Lolgius' has been erased. Guido Lolli or Loglio of Reggio was secretary to Cardinal Alessandro Farnese. The manuscript, now NLW MS 21587 D, was sold in the Hoepli sale at Milan on 24 November 1930, and was acquired in 1952 by Thomas Ewart Marston, whose bookplate it contains, from Lathrop Harper.

CICERO

1977103

Blwyddyn / Year

Adroddiad Blynyddol / Annual Report 1976-77

Disgrifiad / Description

A small fifteenth century manuscript containing four works of Cicero: the De Amicitia, De Senectute, Paradoxa Stoicorum and Somnium Scipionis (NLW MS 21586A). The manuscript contains 128 leaves and two flyleaves (in the manuscript foliation '84' is repeated). Gatherings are of ten except for the twelfth, which is of eight, with catchwords. The fine humanist hand is that of a scribe known to have worked for Lorenzo de Medici around 1470. There are 19 lines to each page, and wide margins. The text itself is written in dark brown ink, with headings, Greek words, and most marginal notes in pale red ink. Sections are introduced with alternate red and black capitals. The title of the first work, the De Amicitia, is in three lines of gold capitals, and the text itself opens with a four-line gold initial with white vine decoration on a background of dotted pink, blue and green within rules of gold entirely surrounding the text. The borders contain various pictures including, in the right-hand column, a portrait of Cicero in a gold medallion. The titles of the other three works are written in pale red capitals and the text of each opens with a three-line gold initial surrounded by white vine decoration, extending above and below the letter on backgrounds of dotted pink, blue and green terminating in gold circles with penwork decoration. The illumination is probably the work of Antonio di Niccolò di Lorenzo (1445-1527) of Florence. The volume is bound in morocco gilt with a floral border, probably Austrian, early nineteenth century. The spine bears the title in gold lettering and floral tools in compartments. The partly erased coat of arms of f. 1 was probably that of the original owner. Latin epitaphs, dated 1579-81, of Johannes Grodecky and Stanislaus Thurzo, two bishops of Olmutz (Olomouc in Czechoslovakia), and of several members of the Dambrow family apparently connected with the cathedral of Olmutz, appear on the flyleaves. Notes in German on these people, dated 1819, have been added on the verso of the first flyleaf by W. J. Wippel, and the stamp of Dr. Leopold Heinemann of Berlin appears at the beginning and end of the volume. The manuscript is now N.L.W. The second group of letters and papers concerns the efforts made by the publishers to retrieve their advance of £50, on Thomas's failure to produce a manuscript. These letters and papers (approx. 28 items) centre on the writ for the recovery of this sum issued against Thomas by John Westhouse (Publishers), Ltd., on May 24th 1946.
