An extensive corpus of the testator's papers and a small group of his parents' papers. Included are the following .

A substantial amount of correspondence including holograph letters from H.R.H. Prince Philip, Stanley Baldwin, A. J. Balfour, Lloyd George and Oswald Mosley; autograph/holograph letters from prominent politicians such as Clement Attlee, Aneurin Bevan, Henry Brooke, R. A. Butler, James Callaghan, Robert Carr, Lord Carrington, Anthony Crosland, Clement Davies, Alec Douglas-Home, Gwilym and Megan Lloyd George, Edward Heath, Geoffrey Howe, Cledwyn Hughes, Roy Jenkins, Jenny Lee, Selwyn Lloyd, Ian Macleod, Harold Macmillan, David Maxwell-Fyffe, Walter Monckton, Herbert Morrison, Goronwy Roberts, Kenneth Robinson, Edward Short, John Simon, Jeremy Thorpe, George Thomas, Peter Thomas, and Eirene White; a copy letter from Andrew Bonar Law; and a telegram from Senator Hubert Humphrey. There is also a large number of letters from correspondents prominent in the legal profession such as Lords Denning, Devlin, Dilhorne, Edmund-Davies, Elwyn-Jones, Gardiner, Hailsham, Kilmuir, Parker and Simon, and from leading figures in Welsh academic, literary and eisteddfodic circles. The archive also includes letters from famous personalities such as Lord Montgomery of Alamein, J. B. Priestley, James / Jan Morris, Lord Snowdon, A. J. Sylvester, and Clough Williams-Ellis. Amongst the subjects discussed in the correspondence are the possibility of forming a pressure group to campaign for the allocation of the proposed third television channel for Wales, 1959; a proposed 'Parliament for Wales', 1968; the use of Welsh in the law courts; and other contemporary Welsh affairs.

A considerable group of family correspondence, 1909-62, the most interesting letters, perhaps, being those written by Lord Morris from the Western Front, 1916-18, and from Harvard, 1920-1, these latter containing references to the American Presidential election between Cox and Harding and to the anti-British O'Callaghan riots in Boston following the death of Terence MacSwiney, the mayor of Cork, after a prolonged hunger strike.

Three diaries covering the periods December 1920 - April 1921, 1929-40 (with large gaps), and April 1940 - February 1942. The earliest diary covers part of Lord Morris's stay in Harvard, while the second gives details of the Budget Leak Inquiry., 1936, in which Lord Morris appeared for J. H. Thomas, and records a conversation with Lloyd George during which Lloyd George gave his opinion on Asquith, Hitler, etc., and described his lack of ambition when he entered the House of Commons. In the last diary Lord Morris describes a heavy air raid on London and the effect that the death of Dame Margaret Lloyd George had upon her husband.

Legal papers including notes taken and summing-up speeches in murder trials which came before Lord Morris in the late 1940s; a transcript of the summing-up speech of Mr. Justice Hallett in a trial of three men for murder, 1947; printed judgements of Lord Morris and other members of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, 1960-1 ; a draft judgement by Lord Morris in D.P.P. v Boardman, 1974; papers on law reform including a comparative study of the Anglo-American Appellate Procedure, 1962, notes on whether the House of Lords should be strictly bound by its own decisions (stare decisis), 1963-6, and whether dissenting opinions of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council should be published, etc. ; and papers concerning numerous Bills such as the Sexual Offences Bill, 1975-6, Criminal Law Bill, 1977, Unfair Contract Terms Bill, 1977, and the Theft Act, 1978. Miscellaneous legal items include a draft of the D. J. James Pantyfedwen Trust Deed, 1957, and a petition from Dwyfor District Council relating to Porthmadog Harbour Revision Orders, 1974, and a copy of the said Orders.

Papers concerning the University of Wales which Lord Morris served as Honorary Standing Counsel, 1938-45, and as Pro-Chancellor, 1956-74. The majority of these papers comprise minutes, agenda, reports, and correspondence and deal mainly with the expansion of the University, attempts to defederalise it, teaching through the medium of Welsh, and the incorporation of the Welsh College of Advanced Technology, the Welsh School of Medicine, and St. David's College Lampeter, into the University.

Papers relating to the Commissary of Cambridge, an office which Lord Morris held from 1968. These papers deal with the problems of student occupations and the disciplining of dons who had incited or supported the students.

Papers consisting of minutes, evidence, correspondence, etc., of various committees, commissions, etc., on which Lord Morris sat including Home Office Committees on Defence Regulations, 1940-5 (containing a reference to the case of T. E. Nicholas and his son), and War Damaged Licensed Premises, 1944; the Courts of Inquiry into the Engineering and Shipbuilding Wages Dispute, 1953 - 4; the National Reference Tribunal under the Coal-Mining Industry Conciliation Scheme, 1955-65; the Advisory Committee on the Administration of the Cruelty to Animals Act 1876, 1960-70, which considered applications for permission to use animals in experiments ; and the Home Office Departmental Committee on Jury Service, 1963-4.

Political papers comprising a small amount of material relating to elections in Ilford in 1923 and 1924 which seat Lord Morris contested unsuccessfully for the Liberal Party, and a small collection of political pamphlets. The correspondence in these papers also shows that his name was canvassed as a possible Liberal candidate in Hackney Central, 1923, co. Montgomery, 1931, co. Cardigan, 1936, Walsall, 1938, and the Henley Division of Stoke on Trent, 1938.

Miscellaneous papers including notes taken during an army course on bombing and grenade work, March - April 1916; a 'Summary of Intelligence Operations' undertaken by a patrol led by Lord Morris on the night of 10-11 December 1916 ; a memorandum by Edward F. Iwi on the 'Problem of North Wales', i.e. the growth of Plaid Cymru, 1937, and a similar, anonymous, memorandum on Welsh Nationalism, 1939; a Development Plan for co. Caernarfon, 1953; three memoranda by the Civic Trust following the Aberfan disaster, 1966; a copy of reminiscences written by William Williams of Aberafon in 1971 describing his youth in Llanystumdwy and containing references to Lloyd George and the Llanfrothen Burial Case and to Lloyd George's friendship with Rev Tom Nefyn Williams; and a memorandum to the Secretary of State for Wales on television broadcasting in Wales by the Council of the Welsh Language, 1975.

Papers relating to Caernarfonshire Quarter Sessions, which Lord Morris served as Deputy Chairman, 1939-43, and Chairman, 1943-69, consisting of correspondence, calendars of prisoners, criminal records, probation reports, etc. (These will not be available for consultation for the time being).

A small group of papers belonging to Lord Morris's parents, but mainly to his father, Daniel Morris. The majority of these papers relate to the Welsh Independent cause in Liverpool and they include accounts and balance sheets of Salem and Grove Street Chapels, 1852-1905 ; an artist's impression of the new chapel at Grove Street and a list of subscribers [c. 1866] ; a register of new members of Grove Street Chapel, 1882-1905, with details of the places of origin of new members which should prove a valuable source for any study of the Liverpool Welsh during the last quarter of the nineteenth century ; a history of the Welsh Independent cause in Liverpool ; accounts of the Welsh Independent Chapel at Queen's Road, Manchester, 1900-19; accounts of the Union of Welsh Independent Chapels of Liverpool, Manchester and district, 1895-7; a press letter-book of the Union's treasurer, 1886-90; a small group of correspondence, 1879-1935, including a letter describing life in the Australian Bush, 1879; and lectures given by Daniel Morris on 'Emrys', 'Hymnology', and 'The London Missionary Society'.

1. Fifty-one holograph letters, 1840-63 (the majority dated 1856-8), from Richard Cobden (1804-65), from Midhurst, Dunford, Glyn Garth near Bangor, and elsewhere, to his brother-in-law Hugh Williams (1796-1874), the Carmarthenshire lawyer and radical whose name is associated with the Chartist and Rebecca movements (these letters relate largely to the Dylife Lead Mine, co. Montgomery, in which Cobden and Williams were shareholders, but there are also references to political matters such as the extension of the franchise, the Crimean War, Palmerston as Prime Minister, the American Civil War, and slavery); nine holograph letters, 1847-62 and undated, from 'Kate' (Catherine Anne) Cobden, wife of Richard Cobden, to her brother Hugh Williams (Dylife mine, family matters); copies of two letters, 1857, from Cobden to John Taylor, of two letters, 1857, from Taylor to Cobden, and of a lengthy letter, 1858, from Cobden to John Bright, all relating largely to the Dylife mine; two holograph letters, 1873 and undated, from Hugh Williams to his wife and children, miscellaneous items relating to the Williams family including press cuttings, an incomplete pedigree, particulars of sale (printed) of the Garthe Estate in the parishes of Llanfihangel Abercywyn, Llangynin, and St. Clears, co. Carmarthen, 1869, etc.; and a photograph of Richard Cobden [c. 1855], four photographs of Cobden's daughters, Annie, Kate, Jane, and Nellie, and a group photograph taken in Paris endorsed 'My Uncle Cobden, Mr. Bright, Chevalier Bunsen signing the French Treaty send (sic) dear papa many years ago'.
2. Twenty-six holograph letters, 7 July - 17 September 1824, from George Rice Rice-Trevor, 4th Lord Dynevor (1795-1869), to his future wife, Frances ('Fanny') Fitzroy (1803-78), during the period prior to their marriage in November 1824. The correspondence includes descriptions of the writer's social and professional activities at Barrington Park, co. Oxford, London, and Dynevor Castle co. Carmarthen, as well as references to problems arising out of their courtship. There is also Rice-Trevor's passport, dated London, 2 September 1845, and some genealogical notes on the families of Dynevor and Fitzroy.
3. A small group of papers relating to Richard Robert Jones ('Dic Aberdaron'; 1780-1843), together with a copy of the Memoir of Richard Robert Jones (London, 1822), by William Roscoe (a few minor manuscript additions have been made to the printed text, including the author's name). The papers consist of two letters from Richard R. Jones at Caernarvon and 'Holywel' to his benefactor William S[tanley] Roscoe (1782-1843 ; son of the author of the Memoir) at Liverpool, 12 April and 20 June 1817 ; four notes, also apparently from 'Dic Aberdaron', to William Stanley Roscoe, one of which is dated 5 November 1817; and a few notes concerning the Hebrew language, together with what appears to be either a translation from the Hebrew or a short original composition. All these items, with the exception of the manuscript additions to the Memoir and a copy of a translation from the Hebrew, are in the hand of 'Dic Aberdaron'. The letters and notes vividly illuminate his life of itinerant scholarship, and his dependence on his benefactors.
4. Holograph notes by Richard Robert Jones ('Dic Aberdaron') relating to efforts to publish his Welsh-Greek-Hebrew dictionary; together with a portrait.
5. Part of a manuscript in the hand of, and including poetry by, Dafydd Jones, Penrhyndeudraeth, (1743-1831), 'Dafydd Siôn Siâms' or 'Dafydd ab Ioan ab Iago' (see D.W.B., p. 448). It appears that this manuscript, together with NLW MSS 5553B and 10898B, once formed a complete manuscript volume. Fourteen items are to be found in this present portion, including poems requesting various items, elegies, and warnings against the threat of invasion by Napoleon Bonaparte, 1803, and against the unfaithfulness of Anglican clergy, as well as carolau plygain.
6. A letter, 22 June 1707, from E[dward] Lhuyd (1660-1709), the botanist, geologist, linguist, and antiquary, at Oxford, to Sir Richard Middleton at Chirk Castle, Denbighshire. Lhuyd is sending a copy of the first volume of his major undertaking the Archaeologia Britannica [i.e. the Glossography which was published in June 1707], to the recipient whom he thanks for his financial support over five years. He explains that the money, £5 per annum, was used to defray travelling expenses during his tour through Wales, Cornwall, Brittany, Ireland, and Scotland, collecting material for the project. Lhuyd's work was completed in a reasonable period of time and so the responsibility for its late appearance rests with the printers. The reasons for the book's delay have been set out in the volume's Welsh preface. As a result of the delay, Lhuyd was able to enlarge the work somewhat. He also mentions that he has received complimentary letters regarding the volume from Dr. Hicks [George Hickes, 1642-1715], Dr. Gibson of Lambeth [Edmund Gibson, 1669-1748], and others.

MEDIEVAL MSS

Blwyddyn / Year

Adroddiad Blynyddol / Annual Report 1979-80

Disgrifiad / Description

Two medieval manuscripts notable for both being in original bindings. The one contains the Cronica or Historia ecclesiastica of Hugh of Fleury (al. of Sainte-Marie), a world history to the time of Charles the Bald, completed in 1110 A.D. (NLW MS 21664C). It is well written by several scribes of the twelfth century, in England, with good coloured arabesque initials. The binding is the original but it is partly broken. The other is a small mid thirteenth century manuscript of the standard Franciscan collection of sermons for the liturgical year, containing the whole series of sermons de tempore (NLW MS 21665A). It was written perhaps in northern England, the earliest known owner being Sir Francis Bellingham of Westmorland, knighted in 1603. This is a virtually undecorated manuscript, and the binding is unbroken. It is a good example of the literature which, to the Welsh, has acquired some notoriety through Dafydd ap Gwilym's poems to y brawd llwyd.

FRENCH MS CONTAINING 'IMAGE DU MONDE'

Blwyddyn / Year

Adroddiad Blynyddol / Annual Report 1979-80

Disgrifiad / Description

A late thirteenth- or early fourteenth-century French manuscript containing an incomplete text of the rhymed version of the Image du monde ('Lymage del monde'), a compilation attributed by some authorities to Gossuin, by others to Gautier, both of Metz (NLW MS 21667D). It is partly based on the Imago mundi of Honorius Solitarius or Inclusus, the Welsh medieval translations of which bear the title Delw y byd. The manuscript, in French Gothic book hand, was probably written in France. It contains 22 leaves in three gatherings of eight with catchwords, the second and third gatherings lacking one folio; a portion of f. 5 has been cut. The text breaks off in the sixteenth chapter. There are 34 lines to each page, and the text is written in two columns. On f. 1r is an illuminated initial showing God the Creator, with a border extending the full length of the page in which two hounds chase a hare. There are three other illuminated initials, and other initials are in red and blue. Three diagrams illustrate the text and on f. 17r are two maps of Europe, Asia and Africa. The manuscript measures 298 x 214 mm. and is bound in buff Middle Hill boards. Inscriptions on f. 1r show that in 1562 the manuscript belonged to 'Babington', possibly Francis Babington, an Oxford divine (d. 1569); Peniarth MS. 382 bears the same signature. The flyleaf bears Sir Thomas Phillipps's inscription 'Given to me by Mrs. Williams of Penbedw, Co. Denbigh', and on f. 1r the manuscript is similarly identified as part of the Penbedw library. In a note, dated 1826, in the catalogue of the Penbedw library (Peniarth Deeds 513), Mrs. Anna Bella Williams probably refers to this manuscript. Formerly no. 1308 in the Phillipps Collection.

LATIN PSALTER

Blwyddyn / Year

Adroddiad Blynyddol / Annual Report 1979-80

Disgrifiad / Description

An illuminated Latin Psalter written at Bamberg in 1450, the year of the Universal Jubilee declared by Pope Nicholas V (colophon on f. 174 v), in a careful humanistic script, remarkable as an early example from northern Europe of the Italian humanistic style (NLW MS 21668A). The manuscript contains 196 leaves in gatherings of eight, with four leaves wanting after f. 106. The text is written in dark brown ink, with 21 lines to the page. An historiated initial on f. 2r shows David seated playing the harp. There are 35 other illuminated initials, many with floral borders, including one on f. 165r (at the beginning of the prayers) with a full-page border. The illumination is chiefly Bavarian in style, but two initials (on ff. 1r and 189r) are decorated in the Italian 'white vine' manner. The scribe notes variant readings from several sources. Psalms 1-17 are glossed in German by a hand of the fifteenth or early sixteenth century. The manuscript, measuring 129 x 90 mm., is bound in once red sixteenth-century German calf gilt over wooden boards. The upper cover is stamped with a medallion of the Virgin and Child and the lower with the Holy Monogram. Inside the lower cover is a pastedown from a fifteenth-century ordinale. The binding is worn and the tooling faint; of the two clasps, one remains. On f. 196v is a coat of arms, dated 1552, bearing the initials IE. A hand, not much later, has written the motto 'elpis eme crietos' <beneath and a note identifying the coat of arms as that of the Ottinger family.

Two fine volumes from the Brogyntyn library of printed books (Dept of Printed Books).

(1) The Book of Common, . . . (Printed at the Theater in Oxford, and are to be sold by Moses Pitt [and others] . . ., London, 1681), together with The Holy Bible . . ., (Oxford, Printed at the Theater, and are to be sold by Ann Leake. . ., London, 1682). The volume is bound in olive-green morocco, with gold and blind tooling; incorporated in the design is a skull and crossbones, which is an unusual tool. Ten silver pieces adorn the corners and centre of each cover. The floral decoration engraved on the corner pieces reflects the chinoiserie engraving popular at the time. On the centre piece on the front cover is the monogram of Sir Robert Owen (1658-98), M.P. for the counties of Merioneth and Caernarvon; the monogram contains all the letters of his name. The centre piece on the back cover bears the crest of Sir Robert Owen, namely, an eagle on a cap of maintenance. On the title-page are inscribed the words 'R. Owen, Ex donis sororis Helenae, 1691' (i.e. Elin Owen, 1651-1702).

(2) The Holy Bible. . ., (London, Printed by the Assigns of John Bill. . . And by Henry Hills, and Thomas Newcomb, . . . 1685). Bound in straight-grain red morocco, and re-backed at a later date. Like those of the prayer-book, the covers of this Bible are adorned with ten silver pieces. The corner pieces bear decoration similar to that on the corner pieces of the prayer-book. The centre pieces of both front and back covers (the latter of which is imperfect) bear the monogram of Sir Robert Owen.

Disgrifiad / Description

Around 480 composite letters, 1891-1932, circulated among members of the Joseph family of Llandysul, co. Cardigan. All four sons, William Joseph, Elias Joseph, David Dan Joseph and Thomas Francis Joseph, were ministers of Congregational churches worshipping in English mainly in South Wales, although William Joseph also ministered to congregations in southern England and Sheffield, and Thomas Francis Joseph served as an army chaplain during World War I. Their parents and two of their three sisters also feature in this correspondence, which is very largely in Welsh. The object of the series and the method of composition is explained in the first weekly letter. It was initiated so that all the contributors could read what every other member of the circle had to say, and so that no one would miss any item of information. The eldest brother was to write on a double foolscap sheet, another brother was to add his contribution, and so on. The resulting compilations have often been described as 'llythyr mawr' or 'big letter', 'teithiwr' [traveller] and 'cylchydd' [circulator]. They therefore number well over two thousand individual letters which contain a wealth of denominational, family, local and miscellaneous news. The letters have been numbered and arranged in yearly bundles. These are fairly complete until the end of the nineteenth century, but comparatively few are extant for the next two decades. Over seventy have survived from 1921-2, and there are two unnumbered letters from 1930-2.
